

March 28th, 2019

Dear Mr./Mrs. Dr. Mustermann,

The new year brought along several changes: The network has a new logo, a new website, and new employees! After a successful UniStem Day in March, preparations are running at full speed for the upcoming Kick-off conference. Find out more about those and further topics:

Best wishes from the main office!

Record participation at the European Action Day on Stem Cell Research in North Rhine-Westphalia!

Eleven research institutions in North Rhine-Westphalia opened their doors on March 15th as part of the 'UniStem Day' and welcomed more than 550 secondary school pupils – more participation than ever before. The activities took place in eight different cities (Aachen, Bochum, Bonn, Düsseldorf, Essen, Münster, Rheinbach, and Witten).

Call for Moratorium on Heritable Genome Editing Published

In the journal Nature, renowned scientists from seven countries have called for a moratorium on heritable changes to the human genome. During a research stop of several years, global institutions should be put in place that enable well-considered decisions on future studies.
